CONTINUE TO GUARD PLANT

City's Patient Still Requires Attention of Police But Early Recovery is Expected.

ZERO OF SOMETHING TO DO

Rumor That A. T. Mahin Was Carrying Off Property is Unfounded—Brown on Job.

The city water and light plant still requires the attention of the police. Policeman Wolters was on duty again last night and the latest reports are that the patient is resting easy and has a good chance to recover. Since the council meeting of Tuesday night when A. T. Mahin was "fired" from the superintendency Mayor Black and the officials at the plant have shown great concern for the safe keeping of the city's property apparently afraid Mr. Mahin would walk off with it.

The situation has changed but little since Tuesday night. The council's action in "pulling" Mr. Mahin's shoes was the principal topic of conversation on the streets last evening. The final outcome as to whether or not Mr. Mahin would be allowed pay for services until July 1 when his time with the city is up is watched with interest. Mr. Mahin has refused to give up the keys to the plant and this is said to be the reason for the police guard. With only two policemen on the city force the job of watching the plant may get monotonous and it was rumored that Mayor Black may ask Governor Ralston to send the state militia here.

Early this morning the city water was slightly colored and the impression went out that Mr. Mahin was in the act of carrying off the plant and in his hurry to get away had roiled the water in the big reservoir. Engineers at the plant have been warned not to let the plant "die" as Frank Brown the new superintendent could not get it started again. Although he has been there since 1897 it is said that Mr. Brown can not start the engines.

The general opinion is that the democratic administration made a mistake in playing politics to oust A. T. Mahin. It is conceded by Democrats and Republicans alike that Mr. Mahin was the best man for the place that had ever held the position and in removing him because of politics especially after he had served three years under the Democrats, was very poor policy. One Democrat said this morning that he was the best man for the place and the Mayor and the two Democratic councilman have been severely criticized for taking advantage of the absence of Dr. Parsons and Councilman Moore. The plan to remove Mr. Mahin was planned in advance and no good reason has yet been given for the action except politics.

TO TRY CHAUTAUQUA.

Connersville News: Connersville is likely to break her shyness of Chautauqua this year, and have one that will make the rest of this part of the state sit up and wonder what is coming to pass. Mr. Owen W. Thomas, representing the celebrated Redpath Bureau, of Chicago, is in the city today. Late this afternoon a meeting was called for the Commercial club rooms, with the aim of taking over Mr. Thomas's offer, which, if accepted here, will insure a week of solid Chautauqua for next July.

The Fairview and Orange high school teams will play tomorrow at Fairview.

FAVORABLE REPORT MADE

Trading Stamp Bill, Passed by Senate, Ready For House.

The house committee on judiciary A of the legislature today made a majority report in favor of the Gelts bill to require merchants using trading stamps to redeem them at their face value either in cash of merchandise. The bill has already been passed by the senate and prospects for its passage in the lower chamber are very gratifying to those favoring the measure.

ROSS FARGO WILL MARRY PRIMA DONNA

Former Rushville Man and Miss Edna Blanch Showalter of "Glassblowers' Company to Wed

NOW PLAYING IN INDIANAPOLIS

Miss Edna Blanch Showalter, prima donna with "The Glassblowers" company, which begins a three days' engagement at the Murat theater in Indianapolis tonight, and Ross Fargo, of Portland, Oregon, brother of Mrs. Lowell M. Green of this city, and formerly a resident of Rushville, will be married in the early spring, according to an announcement which has just been made.

The announcement was made public in Anderson by Mrs. W. J. Giltner, sister of Mr. Fargo and Mrs. Green, just before she left for this city where she is now the guest of Mrs. Green. Mrs. Giltner is now on her way from Portland, Ore., her former home, to Pittsburgh where she will reside in the future. Mrs. Green and Mrs. Giltner will be guests of Miss Showalter during the stay of the comic opera in Indianapolis.

Many Rushville people will remember Mr. Fargo as he lived here a number of years. He is now an instructor in the Portland Conservatory of Music. Miss Showalter and Mr. Fargo met while studying music in New York two years ago.

"DRY" MEETING TO BE HELD SUNDAY

Dr. A. B. Storms of Central Ave. M. E. Church in Indianapolis Will Make Address.

OTHER PLANS FOR ELECTION

The first "dry" meeting in preparation for the local option election which will be held here Tuesday, March 4, will be held at the Main street Christian church next Sunday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock. The meeting will be for men and women both and will be addressed by Dr. A. B. Storms, pastor of the Central Avenue Methodist church in Indianapolis.

Special local option services will be held in all the Protestant churches of the city next Sunday evening. Every minister will preach on the question as applied to all its local phases.

Still further preparations have been made by the churches for the coming election. The regular Sunday school lesson for the Sunday following the date of the election pertains to the temperance question. It has been agreed by all the Sunday schools to change the lessons so that this one will fall on the Sunday immediately before the election on Tuesday.

H. G. FRANCIS IS NOT A CANDIDATE

Says He Has Not Time That Should be Devoted to Mayor's Office.

HIS BROTHER IS MENTIONED

Presumed, However, That Rushville Man is One Meant—He is Not a Progressive.

Harry G. Francis, of the Charles E. Francis company, today punctured the little boom the local Democratic paper has been framing up for him. Mr. Francis is not a candidate for the nomination for mayor on the Progressive ticket. He said so this morning, and that should be sufficient to put further discussion of his probable candidacy at rest.

One objection to the boom is that Mr. Francis has no time to devote to the duties that would be entailed if he were elected mayor, and the other is that he is not a member of the Progressive party and would not be a candidate on that ticket if he did aspire to the chief executive of Rushville.

The boom that the Democratic newspaper launched some few months ago was for Charles E. Francis. It was presumed by Rushville people that the newspaper meant Harry G. Francis, when it persisted in referring to Charles E. Francis as the probable candidate of the Bull Moose party in Rushville.

H. G. Francis had a faint idea that the Jacksonian meant him when he was informed that the newspaper was talking of the candidacy of Charles E. Francis. H. G. Francis explained over the telephone this morning that it would be quite impossible for his brother, Charles E. Francis, to be a candidate for mayor of Rushville since he is a resident of Cincinnati.

"I dropped the paper a note the other day," said Mr. Francis, "explaining that I was not a candidate for mayor on any ticket and that I would not be."

"I have neither the time nor the disposition to be a candidate for mayor of Rushville," continued Mr. Francis. "And if I were a candidate I would not be on the ticket mentioned because I am not a member of that party. I would not have the time, which should be devoted to the office, to give to it."

MINISTER'S PRAYER IS INTERRUPTED

Lieut Gov. Raps Gavel When the Rev. J. R. Henry Refers to Liquor Question.

WANTED NO POLITICAL SPEECH

The Rev. J. R. Henry, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist church, started to make the opening prayer in the senate this morning and in the midst of it began to make references to the rum traffic and to the desirability of legislation against it, says today's Indianapolis News.

To the great surprise of the senators, Lieutenant-Governor O'Neil interrupted the prayer by using his gavel. The Lieutenant-Governor declared that the minister had been asked to make a prayer, and not a political speech. He called for the reading of the journal, and after a few more words the minister left the senate chamber.

SUIT TO COLLECT ON POLICY HEARD

W. E. Manning Wants Life Insurance For Death of His Daughter Maxie Last Summer.

WHAT THE DEFENSE ALLEGES

Answer Filed in $15,000 Damage Suit of Milroy Stock Co. vs. J. P. Archey.

The case of W. E. Manning against the Public Savings Life Insurance Company, for $280, to recover on an insurance policy on the life of Maxie Manning, age thirteen, daughter of the plaintiff, who died suddenly Tuesday morning, June 18, 1912 at one-thirty o'clock, was heard by a jury in the circuit court today.

The allegations of the plaintiff were that the policy had fallen behind but had been revived by the payment on it on Monday before the little girl died on Tuesday. The answer of the defendant company was that it had no record of a payment of premiums after the policy had fallen behind.

The testimony of Mrs. Manning, the step-mother, recalls the sudden death of the girl. She testified Maxie came home from her grandmothers, where she had been since August, 1911, the Saturday before her death on Tuesday. She said the girl awoke with a headache on Monday morning.

Mr. Manning testified his daughter asked him not to go to work the night before the morning of her death. He said he was called home that night and that she became unconscious at eight o'clock and never revived. He said Maxie told him she had eaten green apples and canned corn.

B. F. Miller, John A. Titworth and Eugene C. Miller of Indianapolis represented the insurance company, and Will M. Sparks and A. L. Gary were attorneys for the plaintiff. E. C. Miller made his maiden attempt before a jury in the local court when he outlined the defense in the opening statement to the jury.

James P. Archey of Milroy, defendant in the $15,000 damage suit, alleging slander, brought by Samuel W. Mathews, John C. Hammond and John E. Booth, doing business under the firm of the Milroy Stock Company, filed an answer to the complaint today.

The defendant admits speaking the words, as charged in the complaint. They were: "The Milroy Stock company has been stealing in weights for over two years." He declares that he did not charge larceny, and that he did not intend to. He states in the answer that he merely meant to convey the meaning that the company apparently made the weight seem less than it actually was by manipulating the scales.

Mr. Archey declares the assertion was so understood by the person to whom it was spoken, and that it was made in good faith and without malice. Samuel L. Trabue, Smith, Campbell & Smith, D. W. Meke of Connersville and A. J. Ross of Andersonville have entered their appearance for the defendant.

Mrs. Luella Crumacker today was granted a divorce from her husband, Charles Crumacker on her complaint, and was given the custody of her little girl. The defendant defaulted and the prosecutor appeared.

The case of John A. Widau against the L. E. & W. railroad for $125 damages was dismissed and the costs paid.

Judgment of $72.15, with relief, was returned by Judge Megee for George C. Brinkmeyer at al., who

MORE MONEY FOR SCHOOLS

New Law Provides Cash From Unclaimed Estates Goes to Fund.

Governor Ralston yesterday signed the Storen bill, No. 220, in the house, which provides that where estates are left and the heirs are unknown the clerk of the circuit court in the county shall turn over such estates after a certain time to the attorney general to be given into the state treasury for the benefit of the common school fund. The bill also provides that where the unknown heirs later appear or are discovered the state shall repay the money out of the general fund. It has been estimated that the sum which will be turned over to the state by means of this enactment will aggregate between $300,000 and $400,000.

O. H. MCBRIDE DIES IN INDIANAPOLIS

Former Rush County Man, Widely Related Here, Succumbs to Cancer Today.

O. H. McBride, age about sixty-five years, formerly a resident of this county and widely related here, died at his home in Indianapolis this morning of cancer after a protracted illness. He has been in poor health for the last few years and was incapacitated for work.

Mr. McBride and family formerly lived eight miles north of Rushville. They moved to Indianapolis about twelve years ago where Mr. McBride entered business, from which he was compelled to retire a few years ago on account of poor health.

He and Miss Ida Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bell and sister of Mrs. Alva Eakins of this city, were married about twenty-four years ago. Three children were born, all of whom survive: Mrs. Vernon Ward, Mrs. Ethel Reinhart and Cordia McBride, all of Indianapolis. In addition the widow and several brothers and sisters survive. Mrs. Robert Newkirk of this city and Mrs. Jefferson Newhouse of Mays are sisters and Joe McBride of this city is a brother. The funeral will be held at the residence in Indianapolis Saturday.

A Washington's birthday reception and dance will be given tomorrow night at the Rushville Social club. Many guests from a distance are expected. Farlays orchestra of Indianapolis will furnish the music.

The Evolution of The Modern Store

Did you ever stop to think of the wonderful development of the store of today?

Years ago the store was a place where you traded or entered only when it was necessary. It was not considered necessary or even an advantage to make it a pleasant place for you to come at any time.

Modern storekeepers realize that the arrangement and surroundings of their stores make a great difference to their customers. They know that an attractive display in the windows or in the store impresses not only the woman who intends to buy, but the prospective buyer.

From time to time they add new appointments until today the modern store plays a big part in our daily life.

HAS BATESVILLE A CHANCE YET?

Tribune There Says it is Assured I. & C. Extension May be Made From Greensburg.

NECESSITY OF THE SUBSIDY

Repeated Statements of Pres. Henry That Free Right-of-Way Must be Furnished Recalled.

Looks like residents of Batesville think there is still a chance for the extension of the Indianapolis & Cincinnati line to Cincinnati from Greensburg by the way of Batesville, judging from an article in the Batesville Tribune.

The Tribune says that information has reached it that the extension may yet be made that way. It calls to the attention of Rushville people the fact that Charles L. Henry, president of the I. & C., has stated repeatedly that the extension will not be made over a route where free right-of-way can not be obtained. It seems imperative that Richland, Rushville and Noble townships should vote a subsidy to the I. & C. March twelfth if they would land the extension. The subsidy is necessary in order to pay for right-of-way that has not been contributed. The Tribune says:

While at Indianapolis last Friday we were informed that the company which procured the right-of-way through Batesville for an extension of the I. & C. electric road was willing yet still to build the road on from Greensburg to Harrison, O., and thence to Cincinnati if the people would give them the free right-of-way. The gentleman who told the writer of the company's desire seemed to have his information from reliable sources, and informed us that the men of capital who were backing the proposed enterprise would much prefer this route to either of the others but did not like to be held up for big prices by owners of real estate along the right-of-way.

If this is so, would it not be advisable to make an effort to remove as far as practical all semblance of a holdup. If the people along this route want the proposed road they can get it by making the proper efforts and some sacrifices. Will it pay? We think yes. Will we get the road without making some sacrifice? We think not. Do we need the road? We think yes. Shall we reach out and get it? Or shall we lay down and let it pass to others 25 miles away?

OUR OFFICIALS ARE SKEPTICAL

Washington Looking for Further Trouble In Mexico.

EXPRESSIONS OF DISGUST

The Rank Treachery on the Part of Military Plotters and Barbarous Execution of Gustavo Madero Prove Exceedingly Distasteful to the Anglo-Saxon Sense of Fair Play and Seriously Discredit Huerta's Cause.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The detailed accounts of the overthrow of former President Madero of Mexico and the circumstances by which his downfall was accomplished, together with subsequent events in the Mexican capital, served to increase the pessimism felt in Washington when it was learned that General Huerta had been proclaimed provisional president. The treachery with which the dispatches from Mexico reeked brought expressions of disgust from officials in Washington.

Many in Washington who have hitherto expressed trust and confidence in Mexico and her people maintained that the series of betrayals and executions accompanying the downfall of Madero would indict the Mexican people before the world. Many who have hitherto been opposed to intervention in Mexico predicted that the latest events in Mexico City would ultimately prove to have done more to bring intervention nearer than anything else that has occurred.

At the state department, of course, the officials were unwilling to voice such views.

It is known, however, that the administration regards the outcome of the Diaz revolt as far from presenting a fair prospect of better things in Mexico. Even in official circles, however, the disgust felt at the boastful message received from General Huerta was ill-concealed. General Huerta's message, which was addressed to President Taft, follows:

"I have the honor to inform you that I have overthrown this government. The forces are with me, and from now on peace and prosperity will reign."

It is putting it mildly to say that President Taft and his advisers are most skeptical of General Huerta's assurances that "peace and prosperity will reign." Even to those familiar with the ways of Latin American revolutions, General Huerta's message seemed most distasteful in view of the fact that to the Anglo-Saxon mind his action appears to have been simply that of betraying his chief.

The fact that General Huerta had arrested Gustavo Madero, the late president's brother, while the latter was his host at luncheon, added to the prejudice against his conduct.

"I suppose he let Madero pay the check first," was the sarcastic comment of one official.

The execution of Gustavo Madero, under barbarous circumstances, was taken here to indicate that further bloodshed is likely to follow in Mexico City. It is feared that those who come into power by a purely military and mercenary stroke will take advantage of their opportunity to revenge themselves on their enemies. A series of summary executions, such as have often followed revolutions in such republics as Hayti and some of the Central and South American republics, apparently is about to begin.

The dispatches also hint at a possible rupture between General Diaz and General Huerta. So far as is yet known no provision has been made for General Felix Diaz, and though he has repeatedly declared that he was not seeking office, it is not believed that he will be content to remain unheard in the government.

In view of the disturbing elements in the situation in Mexico, the United States is not relaxing its vigilance nor rescinding any of the orders for the movements of marines or the preparation of the army for going into Mexico.

The downfall of President Madero has checked the exodus of Americans and other foreigners from Mexico, according to advices to the state department today. Consul Canada at Vera Cruz reported this morning that scores of Americans who had fled from Mexico City cancelled their steamship bookings for the United States on learning of the overthrow of the Madero government.

Their Latest Act Is to Blow Up Lloyd George's New Home.

London, Feb. 20.—Chancellor of the Exchequer David Lloyd George's country residence at Walton-on-the-Hill was wrecked by a bomb. Detectives from Scotland Yard are convinced that suffragettes placed the bomb. It was planted in the servants' room. The explosion shattered the walls on one side of the house, blew out all the windows in the building and broke many joists. The house was new and unoccupied.

POPE PIUS X.

WILSON COMPLETES HIS CABINET SLATE

At Least This Is the Rumor From Trenton.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 20.—Although he says he must wait until he is inaugurated before making an official announcement, there is no doubt now that President Elect Wilson has a tentative slate of cabinet choices clearly fixed in his mind.

Colonel Bryan will be secretary of state. This statement is made on the authority of a man who is near to the governor and who will be an important figure in the next administration. But Mr. Bryan has not been permitted to pick the other members of the cabinet.

William G. McAdoo will be either secretary of the treasury or postmaster general. Josephus Daniels aspires to the latter place and will get it if Mr. McAdoo does not.

For a time National Chairman William F. McCombs was considered for the place, but he and Governor Wilson are not, it is said, so friendly as they were. Certain features of the recent campaign, which came to the attention of Governor Wilson after election, are understood to be responsible for the present coolness between them. Those who understood the situation would not be surprised if Mr. McCombs resigns when the national committee meets on March 5.

Charles R. Crane is the likeliest choice for secretary of war, and the navy portfolio probably will go to John T. McGraw of West Virginia.

Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer will be attorney general. The secretaryship of the interior will probably fall to Governor Edwin L. Norris of Montana. For the department of agriculture Mr. Wilson has in mind three men at least. They are Obadiah Gardner of Maine, Congressman Burleson of Texas, and Houser T. Quick of Ohio. Louis D. Brandeis is sure to be secretary of commerce and labor.

Young Widow Jumped Into a Well at Her Home.

North Vernon, Ind., Feb. 20.—Mrs. Zona Woods, twenty-two years old, widow of Thomas Woods, a former merchant of Zenas, attempted to commit suicide by jumping into an open well at her home. The well was thirty feet deep and contained seven feet of water, and Mrs. Woods remained in it twenty-five minutes before being rescued.

When neighbors arrived Mrs. Woods was found standing on a board which had fallen into the well. The board kept her head just above the water. When brought to the top she was unconscious. After being revived she refused to give a reason for the act. Her husband died about three years ago, leaving an estate of about $60,000.

HOUSE FAVORED COUNTY CLERKS

Historic Fight for Fees Successfully Renewed.

ONLY FOURTEEN AGAINST IT

Fee Bill Which Passed the 1907 Legislature Only to Be Vetoed by Hanly, and Which Again Passed in 1909 to Be Knocked Out by Supreme Court Decision, Comes Up Again and Goes Through the Lower House.

Indianapolis, Feb. 20.—By a vote of 76 to 14, the house passed the Branaman bill giving county clerks authority to retain transcript, naturalization and other fees. The bill also legalizes the payment of about $75,000 in such fees to clerks since 1909. The county clerks of the state have held numerous meetings during the past few months in organizing to obtain the passage of the fees measure. Responsibility was placed on each county clerk to deliver the vote of his respective representative. Those voting against the bill were: Bedwell, Benz, Bos, Combs, Coons, Crawford, Daugherty, Perry Davis, Eschbach, Gilmore, Kincaid, McKennan, Myers and Patton.

This is the third general assembly which has attempted to give the county clerks extra fees. The first bill was passed by the general assembly of 1907, but it was vetoed by Governor Hanly within the last three days of the session. The bill was again passed in 1909 and this time received the governor's signature. The supreme court, however, declared the law unconstitutional, because, after having been vetoed, it should have been again introduced at the next succeeding legislative session, which was held to be the special session in 1908 instead of the regular session in 1909. After the law was passed in 1909 the clerks collected the fees until the court declared the law invalid.

The Indianapolis coliseum bill was passed, and the penal farm bill made a special order of business for 2 o'clock next Monday afternoon. Under suspension of the rules the house passed the joint resolution declaring for the amendment of the United States constitution to provide for the direct election of United States senators.

Senate Is Generous.

The senate passed the regular appropriations bill, after voting salary increases and additional maintenance amounting to $34,500. This amount was read into the bill in the face of the warning of a coterie of anti-organization Democrats, who led a fight against the increases. The bill was passed under a suspension of the rules. The final vote stood 35 to 6. The following senators voted against the measure: Adams, Carleton, Greenwell, R. H. Jackson, Neal and Shively.

Although the salary increases were inserted, reductions were made in three instances. The senate cut down the appropriation for the state board of health for the enforcement of the pure food law from $20,000 to $15,000. It also cut $3,000 from the expense fund of the board of state charities from $14,000 to $11,000, and the sum of $4,200 was cut from the legislative reference department of the state library, making a total reduction of $12,200. With these reductions deducted from the total increases, the actual additions written into the bill amount to $22,300.

The bill passed the house on Feb. 13, and it will now be sent back there with the amendments inserted. It is considered likely that influence will be brought to bear to have the house concur in the senate amendments. If this is not done the measure will go to conference. It is possible, however, that some of the increases will be cut out in conference before the bill goes to the governor.

AIMED AT "ROUGHNECKS"

Train Drinking Bill Is Signed by the Governor.

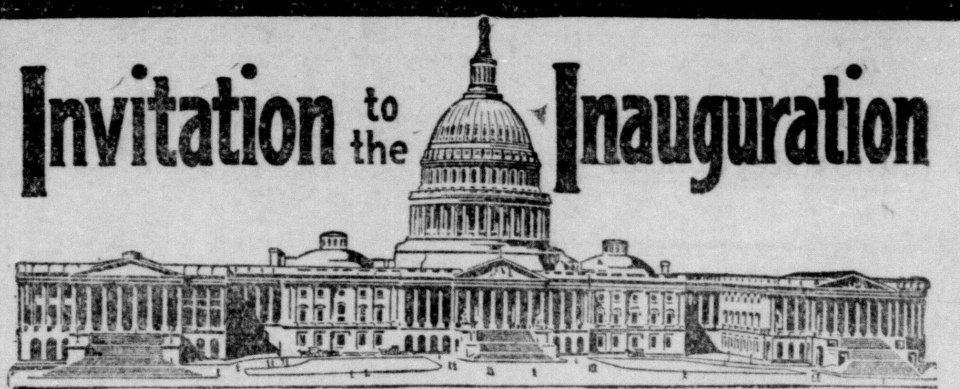

Indianapolis, Feb. 20.—Among the bills just signed by Governor Ralston was the Branaman bill to prohibit the drinking of liquor on trains and interurban cars. The bill excepts liquor bought in buffet cars and there consumed. It is directed against the "roughneck" element, which makes itself obnoxious to inoffensive and unprotected passengers. The new law will give the train crew the backing of the state in enforcing decency and order on trains and cars.

Miss Underwood Out on Bail.

Muncie, Ind., Feb. 20.—Miss Doris Underwood, the Hartford City school teacher who shot Otis Fisher, a Muncie drug clerk, because she said Fisher had ruined her younger sister, has been released under bond in the sum of $5,000. The condition of young Fisher is much improved and he told friends that he expected to be able to leave the hospital some time next week.

THIS TOWN TO BE CATLESS.

Policemen With Rifles War on Small-pox Carriers.

War to the death on all cats was declared in Berkeley, Cal., recently by the police department in the interest of public health. A theory that cats are responsible for spreading smallpox caused the campaign against them.

The order has gone out that if it is possible to rid a town of cats Berkeley shall be the first catless town in the country.

Extermination began, and policemen armed with small rifles shot cats on sight without regard to pedigree or ownership.

Cold Ham Made a Cold Heart.

"Your honor, all I'd get to eat were delicatessen stuff, ham and beans, pickles, potato salad and sauerkraut. But instead of eating this stuff herself she would go to her mother's to eat and leave the cold food for me," said William Brown in the Brooklyn court of domestic relations recently. His wife, Mary, charged him with nonsupport. The case was adjourned.

CASH REGISTER FOR CHURCH.
Unique Collection Box Is Devised For Congregation In Pennsylvania.

A novel invention has been perfected by John Gilmore of Harrisville, Pa., which will be to a church what a cash register is to a mercantile house. Gilmore's unique contraption is a collection box which will signal just what amounts have been dropped in and who gave them.

An attachment to the box in the shape of a "tickler" can be used to awaken slumbering members of the congregation.

The collection box has several apertures of different sizes for coins to pass through after they are deposited. When a quarter is dropped it slides down a groove until it enters a hole just large enough for it to pass through, and the silence is unbroken. If it is a dime that is dropped a tiny bell tinkles; a nickel sounds a small whistle, and a penny causes a whir like the winding of a clock.

WIFE BEATER IS FLOGGED.

Prisoner Chooses That Punishment and Thanks Sheriff For Lashes.

"Much obliged, sheriff," said Robert Phillips of Frederick, Md., recently after he had received fifteen lashes of the whip for beating his wife.

The court had sentenced the man to sixty days in jail, a twenty-five dollar fine or the whipping post. Phillips chose the post.

Sheriff Fagan administered the lashing. The sheriff is a lifelong friend of the prisoner, but he showed no mercy in inflicting punishment.

Phillips' hands were cuffed to the bars of a jail cell, and, with fifty spectators present, his back was bared, and the sheriff entered with the whip.

"I don't like to do this," said Fagan, "but a man who would beat his wife deserves it."

"I know it, Mr. Fagan," said the prisoner, "and I don't blame you."

Were You Ever Gold Bricked?

If you are thinking of buying a suit of clothes and some one offers you a cheap, out-of-date suit for a little less than I charge for an up-to-date, all-wool suit, made to your individual measure, out of 1913 goods, 1913 model, a suit guaranteed in style, fit, workmanship and wearing qualities, and you buy of him, then and there you are gold-bricked.

I have nearly one thousand patterns of the latest all wool fabrics, from the world's best looms, awaiting your inspection and from which you can select your new spring suit. The prices for the whole suit made to your measure range from $17.00 to $50.00 and some even higher, but any suit we make you, no matter what the price, will fit you, will wear you, will look good on you and will please you, even if it didn't cost you as much as $20.00.

Come in as soon as possible, Easter is not far off, March 23 this year, and judging from the way my canary bird is singing and Al. Linville's shining up, spring is nearly here.

What the Records Show.

The records show that A. T. Mahin was employed superintendent of the City water and light plant by a Republican administration June 9, 1907, and that he was dismissed pre-emptorily by a Democratic administration February 18, 1913, for some reason—well, no one seems to know just what it was unless it was just plain politics.

Mayor Black says that it was because the council did not feel like it was doing Mr. Mahin justice by holding him in that position when he was so well qualified that he could command a better salary. Kind of the mayor. He never showed such solicitation over the welfare of the superintendent until this time.

His regard for the ousted head of the water and light plant is almost pathetic. Damon and Pythias never set such an example for the world. But the strange thing is that Mr. Mahin is not a party to the release. He was satisfied with the position and the salary. But the kind and thoughtful mayor has taken it upon himself to have Mr. Mahin released, so that he will be free to seek in fields where his qualifications will be appreciated and amply rewarded by the shekles which will be his every pay day.

The mayor's record on this question makes his present excuse seem ludicrous. He never had any love for Mr. Mahin—not the love that would lead him to sacrifice his own dear Rushville over which he rules for the sake of such a man as Mr. Mahin, merely because his talents were not being appreciated and amply rewarded here. The mayor's position in regard to Mr. Mahin's superintendency is well known to the newspaper-reading public of Rushville and Rush county.

He has been opposed to Mr. Mahin from the moment he became the chief executive of Rushville. It was he who was foremost in the effort to oust Mr. Mahin when his year's contract expired six months after the present administration came into power. It was he who was fighting A. T. Mahin at every turn in the road to prevent the council from taking counsel from him. And then to take advantage of Dr. C. H. Parson's absence to be rid of the superintendent is puerile.

Dr. Parson has always been a thorn in the flesh of the mayor. He has expressed his dislike for the physician councilman by acts and manner and looks and words. He has never agreed with the doctor, only when it was absolutely impossible to do otherwise, and then he has cringed every time he has had to do it.

It was Dr. Parson who kept Mr. Mahin in his place. Dr. Parson is not much of a party man. Whatever he did as a councilman was not for the Democratic party, but for Rushville and what he believed to be the best for the city, because he remembered that he was elected by the people. Although he has said that he would vote for a superintendent who was the equal of A. T. Mahin in ability, the Democratic party in Rushville never presented any timber which he believed was the equal of Mr. Mahin. And he was sincere in his beliefs.

On the other hand, Mayor Black was not. He undoubtedly engineered the deal to remove Mr. Mahin, because he wanted to reward a party man. This has been his viewpoint from the first. He had two or three candidates whom he presented to Dr. Parson, but none of them measured up to the doctor's standard. It was not because of their qualifications that Mayor Black presented them, but because they were good Democrats.

Undoubtedly there should be an efficient man at the head of the water and light plant. It is the people's plant and the people's money that operates it. Whenever it is not self-sustaining, the people have to pay for the additional expense in taxes. A. T. Mahin was employed by a council composed of four Republicans and one Democrat. At the time he was a resident of Connersville and had been for several years. The appointment could not have been a reward for party service. He was employed because the council thought he was the best man to do the work. There were Republicans in the city who sought the place and brought influence to bear, but the council wanted a man who could make the plant pay its own way at least.

The mayor is hardly a good sport. If Dr. Parson defeated him at his own game, he might have admitted defeat and given up like a man. But instead he waits until Dr. Parson leaves Rushville and then takes advantage of his absence by doing the thing that he has been attempting all during the administration, the thing that Dr. Parson had thwarted. Undoubtedly the mayor will have to explain to Dr. Parson, else there will be trouble when he returns, because he can cause a lot of trouble with that deciding vote of his.

Users of electricity, who were not biased party men, realized the efficiency of A. T. Mahin. One member of the city council learned yesterday afternoon what successful business men think of him when one of them called on him and told him in very plain terms just what he thought of the action of the council in dismissing the superintendent without cause.

Inauguration Weather.

Washington is already beginning to worry about the inauguration weather. In view of the bad luck last time, a storm this year would result in increased agitation for a later date when the chance of snow should have passed.

Everyone sympathizes with Washington's desire for good holiday weather. But the matter is not easily settled. The time between the choice of the president and his assumption of office already seems long.

The governors of all states but six take office in the January following the November election, usually the first of the month. The interval seems ample for the action of the voters to take effect.

There seems no particular reason why the interval between the choice of a president and the beginning of his duties needs to be much longer. The gap between the election and the succession is a halting one if a new man comes in. A hold-over official is never in a position to get much done.

Stock market reports show that business men are showing great caution, but of course the 10 per cent cumulative first preferred stock of the Hot Air Corporation, Limited, is considered a conservative investment.

Owing to the fact that a party of Japanese students were seen sketching some old barns out in the country, there is a feeling in the army that the military forces should be increased by about 10,000 men.

The Turks claim that the Bulgarians disregard the ethics of war, as they fire from behind the bushes instead of standing up in a row like men.

Something to Worry About.

The conductor of this Colyum knows a couple of Rushville women who went to Indianapolis one day this week and forsook all the shows in the capital city to see their favorite actress at one of the local movies.

There are so many things that should be said about Pat Lynch, the Newcastle florist, who is selling dirt at a cent and a half a pound, and who is now filling an order from an eastern firm for a ton, that we will have to leave it to you, kind friends, to dope it out just as you think best.

Hens reported to be laying well. Evidently the high price of eggs has been successfully concealed from them.

The Mexican congress might as well pass a law limiting presidential terms to three months and prohibiting re-election.

Which causes us to believe that that old saying will have to be revised to read "as cheap as graphophones," or something of the sort.

They are talking of having a curfew law in New York. If it is no more successful than ours has been, we would advise those people not to try it. Besides it's an awful lot of trouble for the police.

Other Things to Worry About.

The president-elect is receiving ten thousand letters a day, and he is not expecting to answer them in his own handwriting.

Solomon was always touted as the man who was president of the wise trust, but we would like to hear what some of his 600 wives thought about it before we could believe.

WILL ASSESS AT TRUE CASH VALUE

County Assessors in District Meeting Pass Resolution as to Personal Property.

ONLY 25 PER CENT REDUCTION

Township Assessors Will Receive Supplies Here March 1, and Begin Work.

County assessors of the Sixth district met this week at Newcastle with members of the State tax board.

The meeting was attended by County Assessor John F. Moses. Other counties represented were Henry, Wayne, Union, Madison, Fayette, Franklin, Delaware and Randolph.

The chief purpose for which the meeting was called was to establish a basis for valuations so that property in all the counties may be listed at practically the same figure for taxation. Similar meetings have been held at Hammond, South Bend, Logansport and other places in the State. It was agreed in the meeting that personal property shall be assessed at its true cash value, with a 25 per cent. reduction for equalization purposes. Live stock, grain and other farm products are to be assessed at the market price on March 1st, with the 25 per cent. off.

The importance of this agreement lies in its effect on cash and notes. Heretofore money and notes, when the assessor was able to get at them, were assessed at one hundred cents on the dollar. On other personal property the assessment was so adjusted as to make it a great deal less than that. The effect, in the opinion of the tax experts, was to drive money and notes into hiding, both from the eyes of the assessor, and, in a considerable degree, from actual use and free circulation as well.

By their action of yesterday these men have put money and notes on an equality with all other sorts of personal property. Simultaneously they intend to make a more vigorous campaign than ever before to the end of assessing all the notes and money held by the taxpayers of their respective territories.

At a recent meeting of assessors held in Anderson, the question was discussed concerning the taxation of government bonds which have been loaned to banks by firms or individuals wherein the bank issues to the depositor a receipt agreeing to return on demand or at a certain time, government bonds of equal amount and value paying for their use an agreed rate of interest. It was held by the state tax board that such receipts are equal to certificates of deposit and are taxable. The board holds that the depositor loses his identity as owner of the bonds, and in case of the failure of the bank could only participate in the proceeds as any other depositor. The bonds, it is held, in reality become the property of the bank and part of its assets.

There was considerable discussion of the proposition to tax franchises which have heretofore been exempt from taxation. Dan M. Link, C.C. Matson and Ebon H. Wolcott, members of the state tax board, all had something to say on the proposition, and it was decided to assess franchises except where the value of the franchise is reflected in the capital stock of the company. The value of a franchise will be ascertained by assessors in the estimated difference between the paid up capital stock of a company or corporation, and the actual value of the tangible property.

There are a number of corporations in Rushville that will be affected by the decision of assessors. Some of the franchises will be assessed by the state board of review because they are held by foreign corporations. Others will be assessed by the county board of review.

The local township assessors will meet here March first to receive their supplies and begin their work. In connection with the prospective effect of the resolution adopted yesterday, it is interesting to note that a bill to exempt household property to the value of $75 has lately passed the State senate, and remains for action by the House. Should it come through the second trial as it did through the first it may be a law before the assessors begin their operations.

Nails! Nails! Guess How Many

GET IN ON THIS, YOU'RE LUCKY

It's Just a Seasonable and Reasonable Suggestion.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About SERVES THEM RIGHT.

(Muncie Press.)

Members of the Florida Citrus Exchange, a Tampa, Fla., dispatch says, are angry over the treatment accorded their representatives by the Ways and Means committee, and alarmed over the prospect of such a reduction in the fruit tariff that their product will be displaced by fruit from foreign lands. They have issued a statement saying that if such a tariff is enacted they will "repudiate the democratic party."

What did the members of the Florida Fruit Exchange think the democratic national platform meant when it declared against the protective policy? Presumably they thought that it meant that congress was going to take the tariff off of shoes, woolen goods and other things produced in the north, and leave it on tropical fruits, just as many of these northern manufacturers supposed that it meant taking the tariff off of fruits, and leaving it on manufactured products.

The democratic platform is not to blame for these distorted interpretations. Protectionists who voted to retire an administration pledged to protection, and for the inauguration of an administration pledged to protection's overthrow, are entitled to sympathy. And democratic leadership would be justly censurable were it to refuse to fulfill the platform pledge of the party, which is that protection, being as that platform declares both unjust and unconstitutional, should be torn up root and branch, and a tariff for revenue system substituted.

The man who votes for a thing, and gets what he votes for, has no reason to complain. It is the man who votes for a thing, and does not get what he votes for, that has a right to "kick." It is up to the democratic party to see that the country gets what it voted for, and if the Florida fruit growers don't like it, they will have the privilege of voting as they think four years hence.

For the benefit of our many customers we offer YOU an opportunity to get a pair of fine trousers CHEAP! and maybe another pair "on the side." And if it happens that you need only a pair of trousers to piece out your coat and vest for a while, this will serve your purpose exceedingly well.

In our window is a keg of nails. With every $1 purchase on any article in our store you are entitled to one guess on the number of nails in the keg. But, as a special inducement, we are offering one-fifth to one-third off on all trousers. Come in, look around, make your selection and make a guess.

Your guess may be the lucky one. To the person guessing the nearest to the number of nails in the keg one pair $5 trousers will be given, and you may not lose out even if you don't get in on the first. We offer a second pair worth $3 to the second guess nearest the amount.

This is good for TEN DAYS ONLY, commencing Feb. 19, 1913, and ending March 1, 1913. May we have the pleasure of meeting you in our store? Yours very truly,

MARTIN ON TRIAL FOR CONSPIRACY

Father Pleads Not Guilty to Charge of Assisting Cordia Martin to Escape From Jail.

ECHO OF NEW PALESTINE CASE

The case of the State of Indiana against Henry J. Martin, charged with conspiring to commit a felony, is on trial in the circuit court, with William A. Hough sitting as Special Judge, says the Greenfield Reporter. The specific charge against Mr. Martin is that he aided his son, Cordia Martin, to escape from the county jail in February, 1912, where he was held on a charge of burglary. The escaped prisoner had been serving a ten year sentence on conviction in the Marion county court for burglary in connection with the robbing of the New Palestine bank. The appellate court held that he could not be tried except in the county where the alleged crime was committed and he was brought back here to await trial in this county. His escape was made on Saturday night before the date set for his trial the following Monday.

$20,000,000 FOR INDIANA

Not to Be Available, However, For 250 Years.

Indianapolis, Feb. 20.—Indiana is to accept a $1,000 gift from Aloph Melzer of Evansville under a bill to be introduced with Governor Ralston's approval. Under the provisions of the gift the money is to be put on deposit by the state to draw compound interest for 250 years. At the end of 250 years the $20,000,000 or so accruing is to be used in part for the benefit of the people of the state and in part is to be devoted to the welfare of the higher order of domestic animals in the state at that time. Mr. Melzer has made a similar contribution, similarly restricted, to the city of Evansville.

PENSION RULE IS VERY CONFUSING

Letters Are Often Held Up Because Pensioner Does Not Live at Address on File.

PENSIONS ARE RECEIVED LATE

The ruling of the pension bureau that no letter containing a check may be delivered to pensioners has caused some trouble to pensioners. Under the ruling of the pension department, no letter containing a check may be delivered to a pensioner unless he lives at the address on file at the pension office. The ruling instructs the postoffice to return the letter to Washington, no matter if the new address of the pensioner is known to the local carrier. This ruling is printed on the letters containing pension checks.

When letters are sent to pensioners who have changed their address and the new address is not on file in the Washington office, a "tracer" letter is sent out.

These letters contain the same printed ruling that is on the regular pension letter, and the postoffice can not deliver them. As a result many pensioners have received their checks late this quarter. If the printed ruling had not been on the "tracer" letter, it would have been delivered to the pensioner, with instructions to furnish his new address to the department.

There remained, then, as against the ambition of Virginia Delaware, the one pitfall of love, and even this she easily avoided. Beautiful as she unquestionably was, admired as she certainly was, if there had been fire in this girl's heart for any man, she kept it either extinguished or well banked for a later time. She had gently declined the heart and hand of every male clerk in the office. She had chosen her own ways, and was not to be diverted. Cool, ambitious, perfectly in hand, she went her way, and bided her time.

Cool, ambitious, perfectly in hand, John Rawn also went his way in life. Two more ambitious souls than these, or two more alike, they scarcely could have found in all the descendants of the two buccaneer-monarchs we have named.

And Rawn continually found something responsive in the soul of this young woman, something that never found its way into speech on either side. She was the type of devotion and of efficiency. Gently, without any ostentation, she took upon herself a vast burden of detail; and she added thereto an unobtrusive personal service upon which Rawn unconsciously came more and more to depend. Did he lack any little accustomed implement or appliance, she found it for him forthwith. Did he forget a name, a date, a filing record, it was she who supplied it out of a memory infallible as a fine machine. From this, it was but an easy step to the point where the young woman's unobtrusive aid became useful even beyond business hours. John Rawn had never studied to play any social role. Did he need counsel in any social situation, she tactfully hesitated and modest, always was ready to tell him what he should do, what others should do. Had he an appointment, it was she who reminded him of it, and it was she who had made it. Were there personal bills to pay, it was she who paid them. She presided over his personal bank account, and there was no hour when she could not have named the dollars and cents in his balance. Did he wish to avoid an unwelcome visitor, it was arranged for him delicately and without offense. Little by little, she had become indispensable, both in a business and a social way—a fact which John Rawn did not fully realize, but which she knew perfectly well. It had never been within her plan to be anything less than that. She knew, although he did not, that John Rawn also was indispensable to her.

Rawn came from no social station himself, and as we have seen, had grown up ignorant of conventional life, so that now he remained careless of routine now that this young woman should attend in all his visits to the East in business matters—where, in short, he could not have got along without her. There was talk over this—unjust talk—and much amused comment on the fact that the two seemed so inseparable. Rawn did not know or note it. They literally were running together, hunting in couple in the great chase of ambition. Few knew now what the salary of the president's private secretary represented in round figures. Certainly she dressed as a lady. Certainly also she comforted herself as one. It was, in the opinion of John Rawn, no one's business that he registered himself at the New York hotels, and either did not register his companion at all, or else contented himself with the wholly descriptive word "Lady" opposite the number of the room whose bills he told the clerk to charge to his account.

Never was there the slightest ground for suspicion of actual impropriety between John Rawn and Miss Delaware. Abundance of bad taste there certainly was, for Rawn, without explanation or apology to any, always ate in company of his assistant, was constantly seen with her on the streets, at the opera, the play. He showed, in short, that he found her society wholly agreeable upon every possible occasion. If this was in bad taste, if many or most, in the usual guess, put it at the point of impropriety, John Rawn gave himself no concern. The Rawn aristocracy began in him. He founded it, was its Charlemagne, its William the Conqueror, as ruthless, as regardless of others, as selfish, as megalomaniac as the best of kings. Here, therefore, were two aristocrats! They ran well in couple.

It is not to be supposed that a girl so shrewd as Virginia Delaware could fail to realize the full import of all this. She let the slings and arrows fall upon the buckler of her perfect dignity and her perfect beauty, but she felt their impact. She was perfectly in hand, knew perfectly well her mind, knew perfectly well the price she must pay. She let matters take their course, knowing that they were advancing safely and surely in one direction, that which she desired. She was more skilled in human nature than her employer, saw deeper into a man's heart than he had ever looked into a woman's!

And then, at last, the life schedule of Virginia Delaware was verified. At last, the inevitable happened. On one of these many trips to New York, Miss Delaware had been alone in her apartments at the hotel for most of the afternoon. In the evening, before the dinner hour, she was summoned to meet Mr. Rawn in one of the hotel parlors. At once she noted his suppressed excitement. He scarce could wait until they were alone, in a far corner of the room, before explaining to her the cause.

"I don't like to say this, Miss Delaware," he began, "but I've got to do it!"

"What do you mean, Mr. Rawn?" she replied in her usual low and clear tones.

"There's been talk!"

"Talk? About what?"

"Us!"

"About us? What can you mean, Mr. Rawn?" she asked.

"The world is so confoundedly small, my dear girl, that it seems everything you do is known by everybody else. Of course, a man like myself is in the public eye; but we've always minded our business, and it ought not to have been anybody else's business beyond that."

"You disturb me, Mr. Rawn! What has happened?"

"—But now, to-night, now—just a little while ago—I met this fellow Ackerman—you know him—big man in the company—used to be general traffic manager down in St. Louis, on the old railroad where I began—well, he was drunk, and he talked."

"What could he say?"

"He got me by the coat collar and proceeded to tell me how much—how much—well, to tell the truth, he connected your name and mine. If he wasn't drunk—and a director—I'd go down there yet and smash his face for him! What business was it of his? Of course, men don't mind such things so much. But when it comes to you—why, my dear girl!"

The truth has already been stated regarding John Rawn; that, batrachian, half-dormant for almost half a century, and then putting into business what energy most men put into love and sex, he had passed a life of singular innocence, or ignorance, as to womankind. He had never countenanced much gossip about women, because he had little interest in the topic. The grande passion marks most of us for its own now and again, or is to be feared now and again; but the grande passion had passed by John Rawn. He was now approaching fifty years of age. married he had been, and divorced; but he had not yet been in love.

He now spoke to his like, his mate in the hunt, of the opposite sex, a young woman who at that very moment was as beautiful a creature as might have been found on all Manhattan, a woman known in all Manhattan now as the mysterious "Lady of the Lightnings," the goddess of the stock certificates of one of the most mammoth American corporations, a creature over whom Manhattan's most critical libertines were crazed—and helpless; moreover, a woman who, out of all those in the great caravanserai at that moment might as well as any have been chosen as the very type of gentle breeding and of gentle womanhood alike. But she had not yet been in love.

"I don't understand, Mr. Rawn," repeated she slowly. "What possible ground could Mr. Ackerman have had? You surely don't think he could have spoken to anyone else?"

"I wouldn't put that past Ackerman when he's drunk. If he'd talk to me, he would to others. And you know perfectly well that when talk begins about a woman, it never stops!"

"No, that is the cruel part of it." Her voice trembled just enough, her eyes became just sufficiently and discreetly moist; she choked a little, just sufficiently.

"It is cruel," she said, with a pathetic little sigh, "but the hand of every man seems to be against a woman. Did you ever stop to think, Mr. Rawn, how helpless, how hopeless, we really are, we women?"

He flung himself closer upon the couch beside her, his face troubled, as she went on with her gentle protest. "All my life I've done right as nearly as I knew, Mr. Rawn. Perhaps I was wrong in coming to trust so much to you—to depend on you so much. It all seemed so natural, that I've just let matters go on, almost without any thought. I've only been anxious to do my work—that was all. But this cruel talk about us—well—it can have but one end. I must go."

"Go? Leave me? You'll do nothing of the sort! I'll take care of this thing myself, I say—I'll stand between you and all that sort of talk."

"Mr. Rawn, I don't understand you."

They sat close together on this broad couch among many other broad-clothed couches. Crystal and color and gilt and ivory were all about them; pictures, works of art in bronze and marble and costly porcelains. The air was heavy with fragrance, dripping with soft melody and music. She was beautiful, a beautiful young woman. He caught one glance into her wide, pathetic eyes ere she turned and bent her head. He caught the fragrance of her hair—that strange fragrance of a woman's hair. Dejected, drooping as she sat, her hands clasped loosely in her lap, he could see the bent column of her beautiful white neck, the curve of her beautiful shoulders, white, flawless.

The flower on her bosom rose and fell in her emotion. She was a woman. She was beautiful. She was young. Something subtle, powerful, mysterious, stole into the air.

She was a woman!

Suddenly this thought came to John Rawn like a sudden blow in the face. It came in a sense hitherto unknown to him in all his life. Now he understood what life might be, saw what delight might be. He saw now that all along he had admired this girl and only been unconscious of his admiration. God! what had he lost, all these years! He, John Rawn, had lived all these years, and had not loved!

He reached out timidly and touched her round, white arm, to attract her attention. She flinched from him a trifle, and he also from her. Fire ran through her veins as from a cup of wine, heady and strong. He was a boy, a young man discovering life. The glory of life, the reason, had been here all this time, and he had not suspected it. Little Church Around the Corner—tomorrow—and see us, you and me!"

He had both her hands in his large ones now, and was looking into her eyes, intoxicated, mad. She leaned just gently toward him. Forgetful of their situation, he caught her in his arms, and kissed her full.

"Mr. Rawn, how could you!" she said at last, softly, seeking to disengage her hand. "It's like a dream! I have worked so hard, so long. Life has had so little for me!"

"But you love me—you can?" he demanded.

"Oh, Mr. Rawn!" she said, lifting her eyes to his face, then gently turning them aside.

"You do—you have—tell me! Confess it!"

She laughed now, rippling, her color rising, and at least was spared that instance of her perjury. John Rawn accepted it as her oath.

They parted after a time, she scarce remembered how, he to a couch which knew no sleep, she to one that long remained untouched.

In her own room Virginia Delaware stood for a long time before her mirror, in silent questioning of herself, her brows just drawn into a faint vertical frown. At last she nodded approvingly, satisfied that she would do. A wave of sensuousness, of delight in her own triumph, swept across her. She stood straight, swung back her shoulders, gazed at the superb image in the glass through half-shut eyes. There was no question of it! She was a very beautiful woman, stately, gracious—and aristocratic. So. It was done. She had won. She caught glimpses of the jewels blazing at her throat. She removed them and tossed them lightly on the dresser top as she turned to call for her maid.

"Madam is very beautiful to-night," ventured that tactful creature when at last she had performed her closing

Doctors Use This for Eczema

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so salves have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

Lytle's Drug Store. Rushville.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist writes: "I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. I have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years." It will take away the itch the instant you apply it.

In fact, we are so sure of what D.D.D. will do for you that we will be glad to let you have a $1 bottle on our guarantee that it will cost you nothing unless you find that it does the work.

duties for the day.

Virginia Delaware looked down upon her with the amused tolerance of the superior classes.

"You may perhaps find a little silver on the dresser, maid," said she graciously.

SURGEON STOPS A BABY SACRIFICE

Ship's Doctor Disperses Haitian Voodooists.

STUMBLES INTO CEREMONY.

Baron Hendrik van Renken Stam While Hunting For Flowers Bursts Upon Wild Scene of Blacks at Barbic Worship—Ready to Kill Infant—He Knocks Medicine Man Down.

That voodooism in all its horrors is practiced in the interior of Haiti by the superstitious natives has long been known or suspected by residents and visitors to the tumultuous island. The white men who have ever had the experience of seeing the voodoo worshippers in the midst of their fearsome orgies might well be enumerated on the eight fingers. One of the few who have had the ghastly experience arrived in New York recently. He is Baron Hendrik van Renken Stam, the ship's surgeon.

Dr. Stam has had many thrilling experiences, but it remained for the voodoo worshippers of Haiti to give him the thrill of thrills.

"Talk about the spinal shivers," said the surgeon in discussing his experience. "Well, I had them for fair. I had the experience about two weeks ago, and my sleep is disturbed with frightful nightmares yet."

Hobby Leads Him Ashore.

"My hobby since my college days has been botany, and in my rambles about the world I have always taken the opportunity to explore the out of the way places for botanical specimens. It was this hobby that made me a witness of the voodooistic ceremony. The ship was lying in the harbor of Port au Prince, and I took the opportunity to go ashore with my collecting case to seek rare flowers in the hills back of the Haitian capital.

"I started early in the morning, and mid-afternoon found me wandering about through the hills. I started back blindly, and in a few minutes the realization came over me that I was lost.

"As I marched blindly through the wooded hills I heard the sound of drums reverberating. At first the drumbeats sounded afar, and then they came nearer and nearer. I thought that I must be approaching some settlement, and at the thought I quickened my footsteps. Then I discerned a faint light and felt certain that a village was near.

Stumbles on Worshippers.

"As I neared the light the sound of the drumming became more and more intense, and then I distinguished voices raised in a wild chant. Like a flash the realization swept over me that I was coming upon voodoo worshippers in the midst of their weird rites. I had heard the story of the voodoo worshippers for years, and at the thought of seeing the natives in the midst of their ceremony I forgot danger and decided to see for myself what voodoo worship was.

"The nearer I came to the light, which I soon saw to be a big fire, the more cautious I became in my movements. I soon found it necessary to get down on my hands and knees and crawl through the underbrush. The beating of the drums was awful, but the noise served to cover my not altogether silent approach through the brush.

Crawls Through Underbrush.

"Nearer and nearer I crawled toward the fire, and then I found myself in a clump of bushes from which I could see the natives in their orgy, not two-score feet away. About thirty blacks were in the party, and they stood or sat about the fire, the half dozen drummers pounding their instruments for dear life, while the others raised their voices in the awful chant. During all this a native, with face besmeared with vermilion streaks and with trinkets hanging about his neck and waist that rattled as he moved, strode up and down before the fire, chanting some wild incantation. Suddenly he approached a native holding a bundle in his arms. The chant grew wilder and the drums beat the louder.

"The bundle which the medicine man or voodoo chief seized was a living infant. Above the sound of the voices and drums I caught the infant's wail. I saw the voodoo man raise a knife above the child, and blind with rage and forgetful of my own safety, I sprang to my feet and dashed from my place of concealment toward the heathen. If the devil himself had suddenly popped into their midst those voodooists could not have been more astonished. The chant broke off suddenly, the drums ceased their thundering, and half of the worshippers took to their heels into the forest.

Fells Medicine Man.

"The voodoo medicine man stood with mouth agape watching my approach, and the next instant I had hit him over the head with my collecting case, and he dropped like a poled ox. I passed through the remaining worshippers and into the dark. As I ran my fear increased and, with the growth of fear, my speed. Far behind me I could hear the howls of my pursuers, but I had a good start and a great fear to keep me moving.

"Luckily I had headed right in my run, and about the time I had exhausted myself I saw the lights of Port au Prince, and I kept at my best effort until I was in the town."

VIOLIN IS HERALDED AS A CURE FOR BALDNESS.

Expert Declares Stringed Instrumental Music Is Decided Aid to Hair.

"If you are bald, learn the violin," is the moral to be drawn from a startling statement made by M. Henri de Parville in London recently. According to this authority, music exercises a manifest action upon the nervous system, which itself also affects the nutrition of the bodily tissues; therefore it seems reasonable to conclude that in a general way music has an influence upon the physiological individuality.

Musicians, it appears, are bald in the proportion of 11 per cent, but among instrumentalists the influence of musical vibrations makes itself felt in two opposite directions, according to the class of instrument.

Thus, while string instruments prevent and arrest the falling off of the hair, the brass instruments exercise the most deadly influence upon the scalp. The piano and the violin, especially the former, have an undeniably preservative effect.

The trombone, however, is the most deleterious of all, for in five or six years the player has lost at least 60 per cent of his hair. This disagreeable result is known as "fanfare baldness" because the evil particularly punishes regimental musicians.

SURVEYING SOUTHERN SEAS.

Hydrographic Office to Make Approach to Canal Safe.

Mariners are warned by the navy hydrographic office of a dangerous rock just discovered by the surveying steamer Hannibal as she was proceeding to her working grounds on the east coast of Central America.

In anticipation of the opening of the Panama canal the Hannibal has undertaken a survey of the Central American coast to establish correct geographical positions of several points on the coast, where lighthouses, beacons and buoys will be constructed. At the present time almost all of the navigation aids are maintained by private firms.

The work plotted out for the Hannibal from Cape Gracias a Dios to Porto Bello will occupy her about ten years if she does it alone. The navy department hopes to put out the Leonidas to assist the Hannibal and thereby hasten the completion of the surveys.

MADERO'S FATE IN THE BALANCE

One Rumor Has It That He Has Been Slain.

ANOTHER SAYS DEPORTATION

While It Is Given Out in Mexico City That Deposed President Will Be Sent Into Exile, There Seems to Be a General Impression That He Will Share the Fate of His Brother, Who Was Put to Death.

HUERTA IS INDORSED.

City of Mexico, Feb. 20.—General Victoriano Huerta was elected provisional president of the republic of Mexico by a joint session of the senate and congress. Several ballots were cast before a decision was reached.

San Luis Potosi, Feb. 20.—There was much excitement in this city when reports reached here from Mexico City that Francisco I. Madero, the deposed president, had been shot. Several residents of this city have received telegrams from Mexico City to that effect. None of the details was furnished.

Mexico City, Feb. 20.—The execution of Gustavo Madero, a brother of the deposed president, was almost the first act of the military dictatorship established by General Huerta and General Diaz. Gustavo Madero was shot to death in the arsenal after Huerta and Diaz had discovered among the private papers of Francisco I. Madero a list indorsed "Those who ought to die."

The list contained the names of twenty-two of Mexico's best-known statesmen who had incurred the ill-favor of the Madero faction. Upon it were the names of Francisco De La Barra, Manuel Calero, Dr. Vasquez Gomez and others who probably would have been executed had Madero been able to conquer General Felix Diaz.

The discovery actuated the dictators to relentless severity. Following the custom of such governments, they merely turned Gustavo Madero loose within the courtyard of the arsenal and the soldiers riddled him with bullets. It was the application of the grimmest ironical measure known to man—the law of the fugitive, "Ley De Fuga."

Freed of bonds and guards, tantalized by the hope of liberty, the brother of the overthrown president was as much doomed as if he had been placed blindfolded with his back to a dead wall. The first step he took drew the fire of rifles from every direction. It was blandly announced that an enemy of the republic had attempted to escape.

Doomed From the Start.

From the first moment of the success of the revolt, it was certain that Gustavo Madero would be killed. The enemies of his brother regarded him as the evil genius of Mexico. They credited him with most of Francisco I. Madero's most unpopular actions. They charged him with looting the treasury.

Late at night Huerta transferred Gustavo Madero from the national palace to the arsenal. The courtyard of the Ciudadela was filled with the soldiers of Diaz. Madero was released once he had been taken to the courtyard. Immediately he was shot down by the soldiers on guard. It was given out that he was shot while attempting to escape, and that the Ley De Fuga had been applied to him as a military necessity. There is, however, no misconception as to the grim irony of this phrase. South of the Rio Grande governments have had a habit of ridding themselves, by means of the "law of the fugitive," of dangerous or obnoxious prisoners. It is hardly likely that the brother of the president will be the last victim of the dictator's legal joke.

Gustavo Madero was thirty-eight years old, two years younger than his brother Francisco, and next to Francisco the oldest of the nine sons of Francisco Madero, sr. In the early days of the revolution whereby Francisco Madero rose to the chair of Diaz, Gustavo was in New York working behind the scenes, while Francisco led the fight in the field. Having successfully ended negotiations, presumably relating to money, arms and powder, Gustavo returned in April, 1911, to San Antonio, Tex., and later aided the revolution in Mexico itself.

One of the first acts of the Madero administration was the payment of 600,000 pesos to brother Gustavo for expenses incurred in the uprising.

Ex-President to Be Exiled.

Arrangements have been completed for the exiling of Francisco I. Madero, former president. He will be taken to Vera Cruz and will sail from there for some port in Europe. Huerta and Diaz have determined to destroy every vestige of the Madero family's influence and power. Every effort has been made to arrest Ernesto Madero. It is almost certain that the government will seize the Madero estates, which are tremendously valuable, giving as a reason that the Madero family had diverted public funds to their own personal use. So far, however, the dictators have treated Francisco I. Madero with respect and have sent assurances to his wife that his life will be protected.

Chairman of House Committee on Public Morals.

Having made an agreement through the offices of the American embassy to support each other in maintaining a temporary rule, Generals Huerta and Diaz proceeded toward the organization of their government. Huerta has promised to support Diaz if the victorious rebel desires to go before the people for the office of president. Diaz and Huerta appear to be working together in complete amity. They have practically agreed upon a temporary cabinet. Among the probable ministers of state will be Francisco De La Barra as foreign minister; General Manuel Mondragon as war minister, and Carlos G. De Cosio as finance minister.

Though the overthrow of the Madero government is popular with the people, there is much apprehension as to what will follow in the next few weeks. Trouble is expected from the powerful rebel leaders Zapata, Salazar, Orozco and Emilio Gomez. The temporary government is contemplating the sending of troops against these leaders. General Huerta has received the promises of alliance of many state governors. These will invite the rebel forces in their districts to co-operate with them in support of the new government.

TRACTION CAR JUMPS SWITCH, KILLING TWO

Fifteen Injured, One Probably Fatally.

Richmond, Ind., Feb. 20.—Two persons were killed outright and fifteen injured, one perhaps fatally, when a passenger car on the Ohio Traction company's line jumped a switch when passing through the town of West Alexandria, O., twenty miles east of this city.

The car was not running at excessively high speed, but as the rear trucks swerved to the side of the switch rails the car was carried with great force against a freight car that had taken the siding to await the passenger car. Guy Fuller, the motor-man, was killed outright, as was Albert Loy, who was walking along the sidewalk when the accident occurred and who was struck by the car as it swerved.

The injuries of Kerney Coleman, the conductor, are serious and there is little chance of his recovery.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Governor Ralston's first proclamation sets aside Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, as a legal holiday in Indiana.

A mob attacked the building and plant of the Madero newspaper, Nueva Era, in Mexico City, destroyed the equipment and burned the building.

Marco Fernandez, a brother of the Madero minister of the interior, was shot to death by Huerta's troops for refusing to cheer for the new Mexican dictator.

Henry W. Palmer, member of congress for five terms and attorney general of Pennsylvania from 1879 to 1883, died at his home in Wilkesbarre, Pa., aged seventy-three.

Helen Keller has accepted the invitation of the suffragettes to march in the parade at Washington on March 3, and she will also be one of the central figures in the tableaux.

An effort made in the house to pass the immigration bill over the president's veto failed, the house refusing to concur in the action of the senate, which passed the bill over the veto by a vote of 72 to 9.

Dr. Friedmann, the discoverer of a new tuberculosis serum, is coming to America to make his cure more widely known, and proposes to give demonstrations of his treatment to which he will invite physicians.

The political crisis in Japan has been settled by a compromise, a new cabinet having been formed with Baron Yamamoto as premier and Baron Makino, a well-known diplomat, as minister of foreign affairs.

GRAY FADED HAIR, OR BEAUTIFUL, DARK, ATTRACTIVE—CHOOSE, MADAM!

Says Sage Tea Mixed With Sulphur Restores Natural Color and Lustre.

Gray, faded hair turned beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night, is a reality, if you'll take the trouble to mix sage tea and sulphur, but what's the use, you get a large bottle of the ready-to-use tonic, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at drug stores here for about 50 cents. Millions of bottles of "Wyeth's" are sold annually, says a well-known druggist, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after just one application the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth, gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with the Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be amazed at your youthful appearance and the real beauty and healthy condition of your hair within a few days. Inquiry at drug stores here shows that they all sell lots of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and the folks using it are enthusiastic.

AUTHORITIES RATHER HASTY

Close Schools at Spiceland Because Few Cases of Diphtheria Developed in the Town.

INVESTIGATION IS MADE

Henry County Health Officer Says There is No Cause For Alarm Yet.

Several cases of diphtheria during the last few weeks have given the people of Spiceland a scare such as they have not experienced for some time says the Newcastle Courier. The schools have all been closed this week and all public gatherings called off.

Dr. D. S. Wiggins, county health officer, was called here from Newcastle Tuesday and after a careful examination stated that the people are unnecessarily alarmed as the few cases thus far reported are very mild and there is practically no indication of an epidemic.

However, as a matter of precaution, the schools will be kept closed during the rest of the week, but all parents are urged to have their children in school next Monday when the health officers will be present and make a thorough examination of every pupil.

In response to a request from the state board of health, Dr. D. S. Wiggins, county health officer, made an investigation of condition of the public school building and the Spiceland academy building in Spiceland.

The public school building which is owned by the trustees of the Spiceland academy and is rented for the township schools by Trustee Baidinger, was found to be in a very good condition and a favorable report will be sent to the state board at once.

The academy building was not in as good a condition and several changes will necessarily be made in order that the building may conform with the law, but as several of the changes have already been contemplated by the board of trustees, and a meeting has been called to bring up the matters, the report on the academy will be withheld until the board has taken action.

NOW LOOK HERE LAWYERS.

Newcastle Times: The lawyers down at Rushville should study the law—and not only the law as applied to general practice but the law as applied to all special elections. The election law, it seems, is plain and explicit, but perhaps the Rushville lawyers are too busy in some other line of occupation.

RUSHVILLE WINS OVERTIME GAME

Takes Deciding Contest From Milroy Eurekas by Score of 32 to 30.

TEAMS ARE EVENLY MATCHED

Rough Playing Marks Last Half—Eddie Cook, at Center, Shines For Locals.

In one of the fastest basketball games ever played on the local floor the Rushville Independents defeated the Milroy Eurekas last night 32 to 30 in an overtime contest. The game was close and exciting throughout and at no time was the lead of either team over three points. It was the third and deciding game between two teams and the large crowd that attended was kept on edge every minute of play.

At the end of the contest the score stood 30 to 30 and by agreement the first team that scored two points won. Gunning for Rushville threw two foul goals and won the game. From start to finish the game was a battle royal with neither team having the advantage. Towards the close the game was exceedingly rough. With each team fighting hard to win numerous fouls were called and the winner could not be named until Gunning threw the last goal.

Rushville was the first to score counting the first point from a free throw by Cook. Milroy came back and before Rushville could get together had scored five points. The game was sewed up time and time again by the locals and the first half ended 15 to 15. Neither team had an advantage in the first half although the Milroy team displayed some great team work. *The second half was as close as the first and neither team could get away with a lead.

The game was the best ever seen on the local floor and while Milroy lost it was no mean game to lose as the Eurekas have some team and made Rushville play to win. For Rushville Eddie Cook at center was the star. The former Indiana University star played a whirlwind game and covered floor in great style. One of Cook's most sensational plays was sealing the wall and keeping the ball from going through the basket. This stunt occurred in the last half and although it cost Rushville one point it was worth it as the play was really remarkable. The last half was marked by frequent tilts with school the referee from Milroy. Hop Thomas played the best game for Milroy. Thomas was the pivot for a pretty piece of team work that when once started nearly always netted a basket. Gunning and the Rushville guards put up the best game of the season.

The rivalry between the two teams was intense and as the game was the rubber contest each was anxious to win. The lineup and summary:

Rushville (32)	Position	Milroy (30)
Gunning	Forward	P. Harcourt
Sherman	Forward	C. Harcourt
Cook	Center	H. Thomas
Carroll, Petry	Guard	Thomas
Buell	Guard	Barlow
Field goals—Gunning 2, Sherman, Cook 5, Petry 2, P. Harcourt 3, C. Harcourt 4, H. Thomas 6.
Foul goals—Gunning 9, Cook 3, C. Harcourt 4.
Officials—Sparks and Scholl.

Shelbyville Republican: Leroy Dyer, 74 years of age, of Hanover township, was taken to the Sexton Sanitarium at Rushville today to be operated on at 8:30 for bladder trouble. Drs. McCray and Bass, of Morristown, accompanied Mr. Dyer and several members of his family who went with him.

Sugar Sugar

Do You Know That There Is a Vast Difference in Sugar?

Cane sugar is far superior to that made from the sugar beet. It is much sweeter and purer. If you melt a small amount of each, the cane sugar syrup will remain clear, but a scum of impurities will cover the syrup from the beet sugar. The best cane sugar costs more but is worth more. However, for those who prefer the cheaper grade we have beet sugar at $1.15 for 25 lbs.
